Compared to the last report, overall alfalfa and grass hay were mostly steady. Movement remains slow. Most producers reported they received some precipitation, although the Northwest and Southwest regions reported generally minimal amounts. Accounts continue to roll in from producers that their first cut yield is one half to three-quarters light. There seems to be good demand to the market, but hesitancy to make the deal on both the buyer and seller sides. Uncertainty on price, due to the drought and lighter yields, remains the stumbling block for most. Meanwhile, in Southeastern Kansas rain continues to hamper any progress in planting and more rain is expected. According to the U.S. Drought Monitor for May 24th, two inches or more of precipitation fell across southern and eastern parts of Kansas this past week, with abnormal dryness and moderate to extreme drought shrinking in parts of the state. Abnormally dry conditions (D0) increased to nearly 6%, moderate drought (D1) increased to nearly 21%, severe drought (D2) decreased to 19%, extreme drought (D3) decreased to 21.5%, and exceptional drought (D4) remained at 4%.

***Prices are dollars per ton and FOB unless otherwise noted. Dairy alfalfa prices are for mid and large squares unless otherwise noted. Horse hay is in small squares unless otherwise noted. Prices are from the most recent sales. *CWF Certified Weed Free
